

IMPORTANT NOTICE!

PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES PROCLAIMS
FRIDAY, JUNE 28, 1918

as

National War Savings Day

MEETINGS WILL BE HELD IN EVERY COMMUNITY TO SECURE SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

Pursuant to the proclamation of the President of the United States and the Governor of this State, I, War Savings Director for Rockcastle county acting under the authority of the United States Treasury Department, have called all tax-payers and wage-earners to meet on Friday, June 28th to give their subscriptions for War Savings Stamps. Meetings will be held in the school houses at 2 p. m.

The school officers in most places will conduct the meeting in each school house, keeping a record of the proceedings and reporting the names of all persons present and the amount of War Savings Stamps subscribed for by them. The names of absent persons, and of those who refuse or neglect to subscribe with their reasons for so doing, will also be reported.

War Savings Stamps (which are United States Government Bonds the same as Liberty Bonds) can be paid for during any month in the year 1918, but it is intended that subscriptions will be signed for them on June 28.

The price of each War Savings Stamp depends upon the month during which it is bought. During June each stamp will cost $4.17. In July each stamp will cost $4.18, and so on, one cent more each month during 1918. On January 1, 1923, the Government of the United States will redeem all War Savings Stamps at $5.00 each, no matter during which month in 1918 they were bought. They cost less during the early months in 1918 than during the later months because the person who buys earlier has loaned his money to the Government for a longer time than if he buys later. By way of illustration note the following table:

COST OF WAR SAVINGS STAMPS DURING JUNE, JULY AND AUGUST, 1918

	Cost in June	Cost in July	Cost in August	And are Worth on Jan. 1, 1923
1 Stamp	$ 4.17	$ 4.18	$ 4.19	$ 5.00
20 Stamps.....	83.40	83.60	83.00	100.00
50 Stamps.....	208.40	209.00	209.50	250.00
100 Stamps.....	417.00	418.00	419.00	500.00
200 Stamps.....	834.00	836.00	838.00	1,000.00

The law provides that no person can hold in his own name War Savings Stamps exceeding $1,000 maturity value. War Savings Stamps, however, may be purchased for other members of the family, including minor children.

The money invested in War Savings Stamps is not a gift, or a donation, but is a loan to the Government. It will be paid back with a 4 per cent compound interest. If, because of some serious financial reverses, or calamity, it should be necessary to get your money before January 1, 1923 you may do so by giving ten day's notice to any Money Order postmaster, in which case you can get what you paid for the stamps, with interest to date of payment. The stamps are free from all state and local taxes; when registered at the post office they are insured against loss; they are backed by all the property in the United States; they cannot fall in value below the price you pay; they are as convenient and as well paying an investment as has ever been offered by our Government.

A definite quota of War Savings Stamps has been assigned each school district and community, which will be announced at each meeting on June 28th. The Government of the United States expects all the citizens of every school district and county to subscribe for its quota and to pledge themselves to save and economize to help win the war.

It is to be hoped that the subscriptions taken at the meetings in your district will show you and your neighbors to be loyal Americans to whom our Government, in this hour of need, does not call in vain.

E. R. Gentry Writes Long and Interesting Letter From Somewhere In France

Somewhere in France,
Editor, Mt Vernon Signal,
Mt. Vernon, Ky.

Dear Edgar:

When I went down to sleep tonight, I found waiting me a copy of the Signal. It had been a blue rainy Sunday and I never realized how much that little old scrap of paper from HOME could mean to a fellow. I could hardly finish supper before reading it. It was the issue of April 5th. I somehow missed the March 29th issue. After supper I hurried to my room and for nearly an hour I again lived and felt the thoughts with the people of dear old Rockcastle. So completely absorbed were I that when I finished I publish them and when they get tired just cut them out.

I visited many points of interest in and around Paris the last few days I spent there and having successfully dodged the bombs and long range shells for ten days, I left on April 19th being assigned to the division of which my present location is the Y. M. C. A. Headquarters. I spent one night here and on the 20th was sent out to a camp eighteen miles away where I spent ten days in the loveliest country imaginable. For miles and miles the same beautiful fields and splendid roads that I have seen since entering France, dotted here and there with little villages with typical French stone houses and red tiled roofs for it is remembered that in France people do not live on farms but all live in these little villages and go out to their farms. Americans have one difficulty with these villages when they reach them and that is telling which are really the houses and them to do it, and there was no one who wanted to refuse to do anything that the Commander in Chief thought would help the fight here. The money invested in these canteens, however, is not the money given by the people. The leaders were unwilling to use that, because nothing of the kind was in the minds of the people who gave it, so Five Million Dollars was borrowed at a very low rate of interest and personally secured by some rich men in New York, for the purpose of carrying on this business. Every thing is sold to the boys as nearly at cost as can be done without losing money, many things far below what they can be bought in the states for and of course some things higher. All profit accruing from the business goes into a fund to help soldiers right up at the front. A detail of three soldiers were permanently located at our building to help with the work, supposedly to look after the building but out there we all worked on the same basis. Everybody did what there was to do and when it came to sweeping, we all swept and if I were to tell you how much dirt we swept off that floor every morning, the censor would probably cut it out as being information of military importance. In many places soldiers cannot be spared and the secretaries take care of everything. If the boys thought they appreciated the Y. at home you ought to hear them over here. Oh, occasionally you hear one complain, and the complaint is justified, perhaps, because you cannot always get the right men for secretaries and if the secretary is grouchy, or a crank, or "Sissy", the boys don't like it but they are learning where to put the blame and do not blame the Y. but they will make it so hot for the secretary that he gets a moving order and he ought to have one. You would be surprised at how many secretaries are sent home. But there is almost unanimous praise for the work. I saw a captain, a man of about 45, walk into the Y. here in town the other day. He walked right up to the Y. woman behind the counter, a woman much older than he was and said. "You certainly do look good to me. I have been right in the trenches for six weeks and I haven't seen an 'honest to goodness' American woman in six months". I looked up and there were tears in that big strong fellow's eyes as he began to talk of the great work that the Y. M. C. A. was doing among the soldiers. Then we all gathered round and he talked about his wife and children and home. So when you hear anyone from this side saying anything against the Y. M. C. A., you may know that it is an isolated case. Of course there are huts and tents and dugouts right up to front line trenches and many of them are not nearly so well equipped as the one I have mentioned and some of them with practically nothing to work with but they are doing the best they can. I would tell you that I was not assigned as close to the front as I wanted, but most of you would not believe it, because you cannot really understand how it is over here. Whether you believe it or not, everybody over here is scrambling for the front, Y. M. C. A., men as well as soldiers. Men who enlisted in the quartermaster's corps and other non-combatant organizations are now trying every way in the world to get transferred to active service, so they can get up front. Something just gets into your blood over here. I saw a fellow here yesterday who was just recovering from a dangerous shrapnel wound in the neck and he was just crazy to get able to rejoin his company at the front. Men have told me that they have seen fellows who were held back, possibly sick or for some other reason, cry like children, when their company marched off to the front. Who would not have thought this of peace loving American citizens a few years ago? I must tell you something of the work in the larger cities. I have been in two or three besides Paris in which the Y. has rented hotels and furnished the boys rooms and meals at a reasonable rate with waiters at tell me that it was an Italian plane.

A "Clean-up" without a "Paint-up" is useless and absurd, not only because houses that are unpainted eyesores appear uglier and more conspicuous after a "clean-up", but because the painted surface inside and outside can be kept clean, sanitary and germ proof.

I must tell of my experience today and then I will close this long letter. I went over to the American hospital near here to preaching services this morning. After the service I decided to go in and see some of the boys. While in the ward where six or eight soldiers who had broken limbs were and talking to them, I noticed a right young boy. He did not look more than sixteen, but I afterwards learned he was eighteen. I went over and began talking to him. I ask him where he was from, what outfit he belonged to and incidentally who his Captain was. His eyes brightened up and an expression of pride came over his face as he said "Captain Roosevelt and Major" and then I learned his story as only an enthusiastic youngster could tell it. About forty or fifty of his husky American soldier started from the other side of the street, ran up to the party I was with and said "Didn't I see you in last November", naming one of the large ports of entry. The Y. worker said you might, I was there. The fellow said "Oh yes, I'd never forget you. You gave us a cup of hot chocolate and an apple, as we got off the transport". I thought of the Scripture about the cup of cold water. It is remarkable the people you meet over here and how you meet them. The next day after I went to camp, a big tall youngster was introduced to me by the name of Hurt. Said he heard I was from Kentucky, that I might know his father, Judge Hurt of the Court of Appeals. One day while in Paris, two soldiers were eating across the table. One a very small fellow, looked just like a boy. I got to talking to them and after a while the larger one who was from New York told me that the other was "Kid Rickards" the Chicago motor racer. The day before I left Paris I went down to the Y. M. C. A. to get my railroad ticket and moving orders. The girl who gave them to me asked me if I would bring a little package to a lady here. I assured her that I would be glad to do so. She handed it to me and I nearly fell down the stairway. It was addressed to Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox. I took care to deliver the package in person and had a half hour conversation with her. I have seen her several times since. She gave me a copy of one of her poems.

On April 30th the Division Secretary sent for me to come in to headquarters. He took me back into his office and told me he had a very delicate proposition to handle and ask me if I would be willing to take charge of a Y. M. C. A. Tent for colored troops. I told him I came over here to do anything there was to do. He said he knew that but insisted on knowing how I really felt about it and when I assured him that I was perfectly willing to do it, the matter was settled.

When I talked further, I found that the tent I was to take charge of was still out in the headquarters warehouse and had to be put up at the camp some miles away, so one other Y. man and I started out to get it up. We tried to get a detail of soldiers to help but none were available. We tried to hire French help but failed, so we just went after it ourselves and after four days of stark driving, rope pulling and ditch digging, we have it about up and will open the first of the week. The tent will be pretty well equipped; having a canteen, moving pictures, phonograph and piano and so on. I am really figuring on having a great time, as soon as I get use to the aeroplanes. Since my Paris experience, it makes me a little shaky to see one and they pass over this camp continually to and from the front. You have queer feelings when those fellows sail away towards the battle line and you wonder how many of them are coming back. Sometimes they are observation planes and again war planes, carrying bombs and machine guns. You always wish them success as they go and are always glad to see them as they come back usually flying low, like a bird after a long, tiresome journey. Yesterday I saw a strange one coming. I made sure it was a Boche and fixed to run, but a little French boy managed to tell me that it was an Italian plane.

When I talked further, I found that the tent I was to take charge of was still out in the headquarters warehouse and had to be put up at the camp some miles away, so one other Y. man and I started out to get it up. We tried to get a detail of soldiers to help but none were available. We tried to hire French help but failed, so we just went after it ourselves and after four days of stark driving, rope pulling and ditch digging, we have it about up and will open the first of the week. The tent will be pretty well equipped; having a canteen, moving pictures, phonograph and piano and so on. I am really figuring on having a great time, as soon as I get use to the aeroplanes. Since my Paris experience, it makes me a little shaky to see one and they pass over this camp continually to and from the front. You have queer feelings when those fellows sail away towards the battle line and you wonder how many of them are coming back. Sometimes they are observation planes and again war planes, carrying bombs and machine guns. You always wish them success as they go and are always glad to see them as they come back usually flying low, like a bird after a long, tiresome journey. Yesterday I saw a strange one coming. I made sure it was a Boche and fixed to run, but a little French boy managed to tell me that it was an Italian plane.

I must tell of my experience today and then I will close this long letter. I went over to the American hospital near here to preaching services this morning. After the service I decided to go in and see some of the boys. While in the ward where six or eight soldiers who had broken limbs were and talking to them, I noticed a right young boy. He did not look more than sixteen, but I afterwards learned he was eighteen. I went over and began talking to him. I ask him where he was from, what outfit he belonged to and incidentally who his Captain was. His eyes brightened up and an expression of pride came over his face as he said "Captain Roosevelt and Major" and then I learned his story as only an enthusiastic youngster could tell it. About forty or fifty of his husky American soldier started from the other side of the street, ran up to the party I was with and said "Didn't I see you in last November", naming one of the large ports of entry. The Y. worker said you might, I was there. The fellow said "Oh yes, I'd never forget you. You gave us a cup of hot chocolate and an apple, as we got off the transport". I thought of the Scripture about the cup of cold water. It is remarkable the people you meet over here and how you meet them. The next day after I went to camp, a big tall youngster was introduced to me by the name of Hurt. Said he heard I was from Kentucky, that I might know his father, Judge Hurt of the Court of Appeals. One day while in Paris, two soldiers were eating across the table. One a very small fellow, looked just like a boy. I got to talking to them and after a while the larger one who was from New York told me that the other was "Kid Rickards" the Chicago motor racer. The day before I left Paris I went down to the Y. M. C. A. to get my railroad ticket and moving orders. The girl who gave them to me asked me if I would bring a little package to a lady here. I assured her that I would be glad to do so. She handed it to me and I nearly fell down the stairway. It was addressed to Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox. I took care to deliver the package in person and had a half hour conversation with her. I have seen her several times since. She gave me a copy of one of her poems.

The Brodhead Fair Association is just in receipt of some petitions requesting the managers not to put on a fair this year on account of the war. We presume these petitions were circulated without the knowledge of the intention of the fair directors. We contemplate putting the fair on a strictly patriotic basis. The company proposes to give War Savings Stamps as premiums and are considering the proposition of donating all the proceeds above actual expenses to the Red Cross.

If the Red Cross management of Livingston, Mt. Vernon and Brodhead will take the matter up with me and take over the soft drinks, water melons, ice cream etc., I believe they could make several hundred dollars towards our next quota. We are sure to be called on again and again for money for the Red Cross. Hundreds of people would contribute in this way that would not contribute in any other. The young men of the county who are not old enough to go to the war and the young ladies who have sweethearts in the war, would gladly do all the work free of charge. I would like to have a letter from the chairman of National Defense committee for the county. The chairman of the War Savings committee and the chairman of the Red Cross committee, that the directors of the fair may have the benefit of your views when they meet to consider these petitions. To hold the fair especially this year, occurs to me not only to be the sensible thing to do, but a highly patriotic duty.

Very respectfully,

GRANVILLE OWENS,

Secretary-Treasurer

Brodhead Fair Co.

Dear father and mother:

Will drop you a few lines to let you know I am well and enjoying life fine. Had a nice trip over sea, didn't have very much trouble with the German subs as they were very quiet. Found it a beautiful country over here, every thing green and flowers in bloom and some nice people also some very large mountains, but you find most of the land is smooth. Not very much farming all in grass. Some of the finest sheep I ever saw and most any thing that can be kept on a farm. Guess every body near home are farming right along are they not? What is brother Volney doing? Tell him to write. How are all of grandpa's, well I hope. Tell them hello. As it is late, will close. Give best regards to all,

Your son,

Silas French,

People are often very much disappointed to find that their family physician is away from home when they most need his services. Diseases like pain in the stomach and bowels, colic and diarrhoea require prompt treatment, and have in many instances proven fatal before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. The right way is to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. No physician can prescribe a better medicine for these diseases. By having it in the house you escape much pain and suffering and all risk. Buy it now; it may save life.
